GERMAN DYES A BACK NUMBER

(Correspondence of Associated Press)

BERLIN, Sept. 20.—German trade experts are pessimistic over the prospects of selling German dyes in foreign markets. Part of this is due to the peace terms and part to realization of the fact that the outside allies learned how to produce dyes while making explosives for the war.

It is asserted that the industry has been further harmed by the confiscation by France of factories for dyes and chemicals, by the seizure by America of German patents and their distribution to Americans so that Germany would be guilty of breach of patent if it attempted to sell dyes in the United States again. In addition to which England and America are expected to erect customs barriers making German competition impossible.

Experts also expressed that foreign countries will be able to push Germany out of the market with mass production.

NEVADA FIRST IN RECOVERY

It begins to look as though Nevada is to be the first state in the union to recover from the epidemic of strikes which has been spreading over the world, and hence will be the first to get its stride on the march to prosperity. The I. W. W. caused, with a purpose in life seems to be to stir up industrial strife. Nevada's trouble kicked up a strike was not in a solid front, and defeated humbly. The actual workers of this state have had a demonstration of their methods and purposes, have followed their lead, and the paper and have finally organized under their own heading and turned to their jobs. It is probably just as well that the strike had been when it was, and we have had 1 year of it in a community. We had to take it and it might have caused a deep rift. As it was, while it caused some misgivings and anxiety, it should have broken out with such force as to have caused no momentary injury. The miners are again things in motion—their condition is starting up their proper pace and the market for shares in Nevada mines is already feeling the stimulus of returning activity. Though it takes time to get the thrill of the new life, having been further advanced when the trouble began, all the other mining districts will be favorably affected immediately, and in a short time the whole of Nevada will be in full swing—Reese River Revival.

FRENCH AND ITALIANS BUYING IN GERMANY

COBLENZ, Oct. 1.—French and Italian buyers have appeared in great numbers in the Rhine-Westphalian manufacturing districts during the last few weeks. For the scores of small iron wares, partly from days before the war, the buyers gladly pay the present high prices and export their purchases at once.
